SPECIAL SHOW SECTION

Fall Antiques AT RHINEBECK

Fresh, Familiar, Fantastic!

Welcome to our Fall edition of Antiques at Rhinebeck held on Columbus Day Weekend for the past 36 years.

At Fall Rhinebeck, it is our pleasure to let go of the reins and encourage our talented and creative exhibitors to “wow” you with their offerings of American and Continental furniture, fine and folk art, industrial and midcentury design, estate and vintage jewelry, Native American and Inuit art, early ceramics, trade and folk art signage, art glass, Oriental and hooked rugs, toys and banks, holiday ornaments, garden decorations, early fireplace equipment, Outsider art, Asian culture and so much more.

Fresh, Familiar, Fantastic is our theme for this year’s fall show and here is why.

Fresh, is the inventory our exhibitors endeavor to bring to the show as Rhinebeck is known for new discoveries that keep collectors and casual buyers coming back show after show. We always encourage attendees to walk the show’s three huge buildings in one direction then reverse your steps in the opposite direction. You will be amazed at what you didn’t see! Fresh, also refers to the Fall Hudson Valley air as the leaves turn golden for “peeping,” apples ripen for the pickin and fields of pumpkins start sculpting the landscape. Make Rhinebeck a Hudson Valley Weekend!

Familiar, brings to mind the comfortable and traditional experience hundreds of antiques lovers come to depend on as they plan their weekend “get away” to Rhinebeck and our show. Familiarity with your favorite show dealers, many whom join us from as far as Michigan and Missouri, favorite inns and hotels, gourmet restaurant dining, the Sunday Farmers Market, local shops and historic sites all welcoming you back.

Fantastic, is the way we want you to feel at our show while you peruse the 100-plus booths seeking out that special personal collection piece, gift for a friend or just marvel at the thousands of objects our show presents. And remember whether you are a newcomer to antiques or a seasoned professional, our exhibitors are full of fantastic information which they are anxious to share adding to your knowledge and fun.

Every show, we enjoy offering a complimentary event as a “value added” perk of our shows. This fall join us for six, ten-minute, mini-series “show and tell” presentations brought to you by select dealer specialists in our show. Topics will range from early photography, one of the hottest collecting fields, to intriguing ancient tribal art. Read further in this special section for more details.

So come see why everyone is talking about Rhinebeck and join the excitement at the Fall Antiques at Rhinebeck Show where great antiques, great deals, a great series of special events, plus free parking, food court, complimentary newspapers and color magazines all await your visit.

We look forward to greeting everyone as you “re-discover your antiquing adventure at Fall Rhinebeck!”

Sincerely yours,

Frank Gaglio

ADVANCED ORGANIZATIONAL DEVICES

They're called "drawers", and this impressive hardware chest has 108 of them in graduated sizes, each wood and metal drawer with its original brass pull and label holder. Manufactured by the W. C. Heller Co., of Montreal, with a Kansas City branch, this chest dates from about 1910, and measures 5'4" tall, 3'1" wide, and 1'6" deep. An attached brass plaque is stamped with the manufacturer's name. Originally filled with nails and screws, these drawers will help you get down to brass tacks and organize the nuts and bolts of your own life.

One of a small collection of New England folk art water colors of children. This example made particularly charming with the addition of her doll.

Special Fall Show Feature: Words From The Author

On Sunday, October 11, at noon, join us for a special presentation titled “The Not-So-Good-Life of The Colonial Goodwife” by Velya Jancz-Urban, author of Acquiescence.

Perhaps women and girls (and men) need to be reminded of how far we have come in order to see how far we still can go.

Discover what life was really like for New England’s colonial women — because we’ve always been curious.

This visual power point presentation will be followed by a book signing by the author. (Approximately 45 minutes and limited seating so attend early in Gallery “D” across from our show office. Complimentary with admission).

Special Show Feature: The 5 Minute Expert!

On Saturday, October 10, from 1 to 3 pm, six of our show exhibitors with expertise in their specialized fields will present a mini-series, ten-minute-plus “show and tell” in gallery “D” across from our show office.

Our first talk at 1pm will be Lee J. Chinalai of Chinalai Tribal Antiques, Ltd, presenting “What is Tribal Art and What Makes it Authentic.” Attend this intriguing talk and learn more about the cultural differences of authentic period pieces and later copies with hands on examples of the works.

Lee J. Chinalai

Victor Weinblatt

Our fourth talk will be Victor Weinblatt presenting “Folk Art Signage,” a specialty field Victor has championed and become known for over the past three decades. Victor’s ability to identify signage as art will have you looking at “Cabins for Rent,” “Fresh Eggs” and “Palm Readings” signage in a whole new light.

Our fifth talk will be presented by Sanford Levy of Jenkinstown Antiques titled “Hudson River Valley, One Hundred Years of Art.” Recognized as an expert in Hudson Valley paintings, Sanford has a particular love and knowledge of items from the Hudson Valley; which is reflected in the unique merchandise offered in his shop. He is a well-known dealer in regional artists such as D.F. Hasbrouck, T.B. Pope, Michael Kelly, Joseph Tubby and Julia Dillon. Sanford also specializes in furniture from the valley, including kasten and country pieces in original surfaces and has curated several exhibits on Hudson Valley arts.

Twentieth Century Hudson Valley landscape painting titled “View of Cold Spring, N.Y.,” circa 1940, by Michael Kelly.

Nineteenth Century Hudson Valley three-panel painted screen, “City of Albany Harbor,” circa 1840, artist unknown.

David Thompson

An exceptional ambrotype of three gentlemen.

Our second talk will be David Thompson of David Thompson Antiques & Art presenting “Collecting Early Photography” which has been a popular collecting field the past several years. David will point out the differences between photographic techniques and subject matter desirability.

Our sixth talk will be Bev Norwood of The Norwoods’ Spirit of America presenting “American School Girl Theorems and Southeastern Pennsylvania Fraktur.” Bev is a well-know expert in this field and her research into the subject has been published numerous times. She has also consulted on special exhibits and brings a sincere passion to the art of Nineteenth Century naive painting and watercolors. Join Bev for this final event of the “5 Minute Expert” series which you will not want to miss.

Bev Norwood

Nineteenth Century schoolgirl theorems on velvet.

Our third talk will be Tim Chambers of Missouri Plain Folk presenting “Art of the Game.” Author and antiques dealer, Tim will walk you through the history and development of gameboards as a recognized art form over the last half century.

Tim Chambers

The Art Of The Game: A Collection of Vintage Game Boards by Tim Chambers

Fall Rhinebeck Show Amenities

At all Barn Star events, we do our best to offer attendees as many conveniences as possible, and Rhinebeck joins that list.

Our “pay once” policy entitles you to as many return visits to the show as you would like by filling out our return pass (available at show office) and using it at the admission gate. Free parking at the Fairgrounds Main and Mulberry Street entrances; convenient food court serving hot and cold food and beverages; porter service to assist with large purchases brought to our Pick-Up Tent; complimentary color, glossy decorating magazines, antiques newspapers; complimentary special events; plus priority parking for mobility challenged guests, all round out your Fall Rhinebeck Show experience. Regretfully, pets are not allowed on the fairgrounds property, sorry.
