

HOT, HOT, HOT

Contemporary Art Market

HOT,
HOT,
HOT

Contemporary Art Market
Sizes throughout 2014

For the first time, the word 'hot' has become a descriptor for the contemporary art market throughout the year, especially in Manhattan. In the contemporary marketplace a handful of artists have broken three figures for Artprice's Top 100 list, with the top artist, Damien Hirst, selling for $127 million. Other artists in the top 10 include Jeff Koons, with a record sale of $84 million. Other artists in the top 100 were displayed at the Artprice 2014 list, see the Artprice 2014 list, and the Artprice 2014 list.

The Best of Asian 2014 Year In Review

YEAR IN REVIEW: ASIAN

2014 was a very good year for Asian items, especially those originating from China. Record prices were routinely broken, and then broken again throughout the year. Here are a couple highlights...

Skinner >
Coming to a surprise to many, the monumental Chinese vase sold for a record price of $47.7 million at Skinner.

Auction and Antiques Show 2014 Highlights

2014 Auction and Antiques Show Highlights

'American Eagle.' Pool & Park's two-day October auction was led by the Wilhelm Schirmer carved eagle with original polystyrene surface that attained $95,000.