(watercolor) Nauset "Three Sisters Lighthouses"
Eastham, Cape Cod c.1890's
by artist Rominer Lovewell (1853-1932)

This is a finely-executed, large watercolor of the Three Sisters Lighthouses in Eastham, MA on Cape Cod, by noted marine artist Rominer Lovewell (1853-1932). Painting is signed lower left "R Lovewell." It is in its original oak frame and likely dates to 1890-1910. Rominer Lovewell is a well known marine artist whose works are quite rare. Overall 15 1/2" x 28 1/2".

We offer thousands of books, documents, photos, antiques and much more on the subject of lighthouses, Life-Saving Service, early Coast Guard and Cape Cod and the Islands. Please check out our extensive listings on our website at www.lighthouseantiques.net

CAPE COD ANTIQUING GUIDE 2016

Cape Cod is so much more than just “sun, sand and surf.” Among its many features it has the reputation as “an antiquing destination.” Whether you are an astute collector, fledgling “newbee,” or an occasional browser, the Cape offers a wide variety of antiquing experiences. The Cape Cod Antique Dealers Association (CCADA) represents over 120 individual dealers, group shops and auctioneers, all of whom invite you to travel the scenic roadways of the Cape. Spend time in both individual shops as well as the large, multi-dealer group shops. Plan your visit around the many high end shows, featuring quality dealers from both the Cape and across the region.

So save this 2016 Guide to help you plan a visit to the Cape this coming Spring, Summer or Fall. Enjoy our natural beauty and fine hospitality, and visit the members you see pictured in the Guide. Plan to attend one of the many shows or auctions listed in the Calendar of Events. Try not to miss the CCADA’s two premier shows. The first is our “Spring Indoor Show” being held Saturday, June 4th at the Barnstable County Fairgrounds in Falmouth from 10-4pm. The second is our “Annual Summer Indoor 2-Day Show.” Scheduled for Friday night, August 12th from 5pm to 8pm and Saturday, August 13th from 10am to 4pm. It will feature 40 of New England’s best dealers. It is being held at Nauset Middle School, Rt 28, Orleans, MA. For more information on these two shows, or any of the other Cape shows, please check our website: www.ccada.com. We hope to see you here!

Cape Cod Is A Hotbed For Antiquing

Antiquing on Cape Cod is a year-round pastime though the ranks of antiques buyers certainly swell during the nicer weather months. There are dozens of antique shops, including nine group shops, and dealers all over the Cape as well as antique shows, flea markets and dedicated antiques auctions held throughout the year. At the Cape Cod Antique Dealers Association's indoor antiques show last summer, buyers and dealers alike gave the show a thumbs-up with strong attendance that drew many people away from the beach to peruse the offerings. More and more, young people have been joining the ranks of antiques buyers with a robust contingent seen at the association's shows and other places, where children and students often are welcomed with free admission.
