NO MASKS REQUIRED BUT ARE ENCOURAGED

September brings with it not only cooler nights but the riches of the recent growing season. Pumpkins, butternut squash, apples and more are to be found at farm markets. For book enthusiasts, library sales are in abundance and auction activity increases as leaves show signs of color change. In celebration of meteorological fall, we invite to peruse the following.

Photography and art are well represented in this auction. Here are six examples of the books available: "The Art of Elizabeth Catlett," Lewis (1984) a limited edition. This copy is signed and has the signed / numbered print "Survivor." "Here Far Away Photographs from the Years 1964-2011," Sammallahti (2012) 1st edition, "Pieter Bruegel the Complete Works," Muller & Schauerte (2018) 1st edition in dj and its original cardboard carrying case. Also to be found are: "Desert Cantos," Misrach (1987) 1st edition in dj, "Measure of Emptiness Grain Elevators in the American Landscape," Gohlke (1992) 1st edition in dj and the Marine Artist James A Mitchell's original pen and ink drawing of the schooner Gen. Banning which was used to create a limited edition lithograph.

Most of our auctions are rich in children's books and this one is no different. Here are a few examples of that: "The Purple Prince of Oz," Thompson (circa 1932) later printing in dj, "The Giant Horse of Oz," Thompson (1935), "Tik-Tok of Oz," Baum (1920) early issue with colored plates and "The Gnome King of Oz," Thompson (1927) 1st edition. later state with colored plates. Not interested in Baum, then how about Dr. Seuss; "If I Ran the Circus." This is a 1st edition, 2nd printing with its dustjacket.

In the category of fine printing and fiction we have: "The Book of Christopher Columbus A Lyrical Drama in Two Parts," Claudel (1930) limited edition #210/350 copies signed by the author and the artist, "A Reprint of the Reed and Cadwalader Pamphlets with an Appendix," Reed & Cadwalader (1863) limited printing of 199 copies. Or how about the "History of Susanna," a limited edition of 400 copies issued by Grabhorn Press with illustrations by Mallette Dean. As an aside, In the past year we have received three large consignments numbering thousands of works of fiction. Here are couple of volumes that should interest collectors: "Lincoln," Vidal (1984) 1st edition signed in dj, "Cannery Row," Steinbeck (1945) 1st edition, 2nd issue in dj, "Life on the Mississippi," Twain (1883) 1st edition, mixed state, and "Angle of Repose," Stegner (1971) 1st edition in dj.

A recent consignsor loved signed books. Here are a few of the signatures to be found in this auction: Carl Reiner, Steve Forbes, Walter Cronkite, Tom Seaver, Aldo Leopold, Jim Abbott, Keith Hernandez, Tommy Lasorda, Paul Tibbets, and Eddie Fischer.

Add to this, Marine Artist James A. Mitchell prints, from 1932 a large colorful "Descriptive Map of the Region within One Hundred Miles of the Capital of the United States," several attractive leather sets and an interesting mixture of ephemera and you have the makings of an enjoyable September evening.
