October brings with it a chill in the air, the sweet taste of cider and serious book hunting as the days before afternoon darkness and that white stuff are soon to arrive. At Connecticut River Book Auction we've assembled over 200 lots to please the interests of book and ephemera collectors alike.

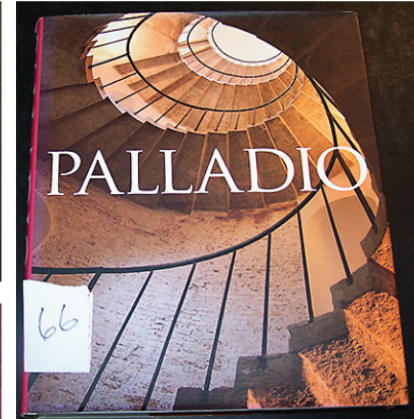

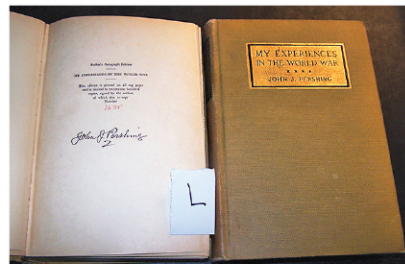

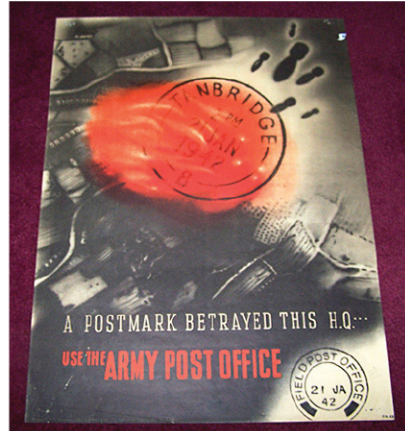

For those with an interest in history there is a 5-volume set filled with maps and plates by Wilkes (1849) entitled "Narrative of the United States Exploring Expedition during the Years 1838-1842." Or consider the war to end all wars through the eyes of Black Jack Pershing (1931) in a signed limited two volume edition of "My Experiences in the World War." Then again If catching up on the news is important to you, we have a bound 1st volume of the "London Illustrated News" for 1842 with the large, folded print "London in 1843" present.

Not interested in history, well then how about photography? There are signed limited editions of Siibata's (2015) "Concrete Abstraction," and Goodwin's (1985) "Fat Goodwin Land." Is architecture your passion then "Palladio," by Belyramini and Burns (2008) or numerous volumes on the work of Frank Lloyd Wright like the 5-volume set of "Frank Lloyd Wright Collected Writings," by Pfeiffer (1992-95) may be pleasing to your soul?

If small press and fine printing are your interests, then we continue to offer several opportunities for you to add to your collection. For example, limited editions of Wilde's "After Berneval Letters of Oscar Wilde to Robert Ross," a 1980 "Saul Marks and the Plantin Press," a 1985 "Remembering Carl Hertzog a Texas Printer and His Books," and a 1980 copy of Burke's "Printing Poetry," will be available.

Most Connecticut River Book Auctions have at least one unique item for sale and this auction is no different. Under the heading of ephemera we have seven WWII posters in very good to fine condition for your consideration. As best as we can determine, four were produced in 1943 by the 952 Engineering Topographers. The 1942 poster "Postmark Betrayed Tanbridge" was drawn by noted illustrator Abram Games and "Watch Your Waste Paper Someone May Have A Use For It," was done by Disney and WB cartoonist Ted Bonnicksen.

Add to this a nice selection of children's books and numerous signed volumes by politicians, actors and authors and you have the makings of an enjoyable evening. Oh, did we mention that we have an ex-library 7th edition copy of Whitman's "Leaves of Grass" from the Sudbury, Massachusetts library that like its Boston counterpart never saw circulation for reasons of Whitman's addition of homosexual poetry?
