Canadiana & Folk Art

Featuring the Collections of Jim Fleming,
Marty Osler, and Susan Murray

October 8, 2022

Jim Fleming is a former Canadian Broadcaster and Member of the House of Commons whose search for Canada's best folk art began in the 1970s. Much of what he offers in this sale is fully documented.

Beloved Toronto Optometrist Marty Osler could easily be considered Canadiana's poster child. Osler's contributions to this sale come from deep within his mine-shaft of trappings. Ranging from forged weathervanes to outsider art, they will delight and surprise collectors.

Since Susan Murray's 2007 Canadian/US tour of The Beaverbrook Art Gallery, her Collection and name were immortalized. Finally, collectors have an opportunity to discover and own what she cherished including the 1930s masterpiece diorama "Maple Sugar Time" by Quebec folk artist Adelaire Brousseau.

With a line-up of artists ranging from Maud Lewis, Norval Morriseau, Maurice Galbraith Cullen, Purvis Young and Moses Tolliver, as well as documented folk art from the great collections mentioned, this is not a sale to be missed.

Winter Sleigh Ride by Maud Lewis (1901–1970)
