Neue Auctions Will Present a Single Owner Collection Full of Style at Auction, December 3

200 lots of handsome and stylish paintings, sculptures, and decorative arts and will cross the virtual block in Neue Auctions December 3rd online sale. Made up of one gentleman's hand selected examples, they comprise only a small portion of his life in acquisitions of fine art and antiques.

Paintings and Fine Art are a special interest and there is much to choose from, including Landscapes, Still Lifes, Mid century Modern figurative and abstract works, New York City scenes, colorful Post impressionist works and a fine selection of Cleveland School art including Rolf Stoll, Carl F. Gaertner, George Adomeit, Edris Eckhardt, Hazel Janicki, William Schock and Joseph B. and Algesa O'Sickey.

Sculpture is an obsession for this collector, who remains anonymous, and the sale is populated with a selection covering the 17th, 18th, 19th, 20th and 21st centuries. Grand Tour bronzes include fine examples of Diana of Gabii, Mercury, Aphrodite Tying Her sandal, the Abduction of the Sabine Woman after Giambologna, the Spinario, the Dancing Faun and other favorites. There are also intriguing modernist sculptures including an Arnaldo Pomodoro relief dated 1956 and a good selection of Cleveland School hand built ceramic sculptures of African-American subject matter. There is a modernist carved bone figure by sculptor and American film and television character actor Jerry Hardin, whose successful career spans 50 + years and who, inspired by 16th/17thc. artist Jacques Callot, also took to carving sculptures from bone. Ohio master woodcarver John T. Sharp is represented by a carved black cherry solid carved wood sculpture entitled Robin, carved as a Robin perched on a headstone, estimate $1,500-$2,500.
